

Professor Sophie Staniszewska

Professor Sophie Staniszewska leads the Patient and Public Involvement (PPI) and Experiences of Care Programme at Warwick Medical School and is Visiting Professor at London Southbank University. Sophie was a member of the Research Excellence Framework 2014 Public Health, Health Services and Primary Care Panel.

Sophie has carried out a wide range of studies in patient and public involvement and patient experiences. Sophie recently published the first international guidance to enhance the quality of PPI reporting, GRIPP2, jointly in BMJ and RIE.

Sophie was Vice-Chair of the National Institute for Health Research Breaking Boundaries Review which developed the future vision of patient and public involvement in health research in the UK. Sophie is academic lead for CLAHRC-WM on developing PPI within research and implementation. Sophie chaired the Evidence, Knowledge and Learning Group of INVOLVE and is now an associate member. Sophie is also a member of the National Institute for Health Research NIHR Evaluation, Trials and Studies Coordinating Centre Patient and Public Involvement Reference Group. Sophie is also a steering group committee member of the Health Technology Assessment International Patient/Citizen Involvement Steering Group and co-chairs the Methods and Impact Group. Sophie regularly works with NICE and SCIE.

Sophie is Co-editor in Chief of a new Biomed Central Journal, Research Involvement and Engagement <http://www.researchinvolvement.com/>. In addition, Sophie reviews for a range of national and international funding bodies and international journals, is on the editorial board of the International Journal for Quality in HealthCare, Patient Experiences Journal, The Patient: Patient Centered Outcomes Research and supervises a number of PhD students.