WORK-BASED LEARNING

AND CONTINUING PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Your choice, your future

WORK-BASED LEARNING:

WHO IS IT FOR?

Work-based learning offers a unique and contextualised approach to learning and development for professionals and those supporting professionals in practice. The aim of these programmes is to develop practice from a personal and organisational perspective, evidenced through a professional portfolio.

The portfolio is constructed within a framework of evidence-based research that can be aligned to a variety of professional settings, ranging from healthcare to leadership and management.

The flexible, self-directed nature of work-based learning can be studied at a variety of levels that include; certificate, diploma, BSc and MSc.

Choosing this approach to professional development will enhance learning and address organisational needs and change in a supportive environment.

WHY CHOOSE WORK-BASED LEARNING?

- It's flexible, self-directed and practice-focused
- Student Centred
- It supports organisational needs and change
- It aids your professional development in a supportive environment
- It's empowering, patient centred and has a strong value base
- It supports non-traditional learners
- Fully inclusive multi-professional learning through Action Learning Sets

WORK-BASED LEARNING CHANGED MY WORKPLACE!

Ann Davies, Team Manager Local Primary Care Mental Health Support Service

"The work-based learning style of the degree allowed me to flexibly manage my study time, incorporate my previous experience within the modular programme, learn new ways of thinking and of relating in different situations and allowed me to creatively think outside the box."

Paula Bidder, Clinical Nurse Specialist Gynaecology, Singleton Hospital

"Work-based learning allows you to work on a topic relevant to your workplace. I found the structure of the course difficult to understand at first but once I had done my first learning contract with support from my tutor, I found distance learning was more manageable with home and work, than a taught module would be."

NEWIDIODD DYSGU YN Y GWEITHLE FY NGWEITHLE!

Ann Davies, Rheolwr Tîm Gwasanaeth Cymorth Iechyd Meddwl Sylfaenol Lleol

"Caniataodd arddull dysgu yn y gweithle y radd i mi reoli fy amser astudio yn hyblyg, i gynnwys fy mhrofiad blaenorol yn y rhaglen fodiwlaid, i ddsygu ffyrdd newydd o feddwl ac o ymdeimlo mewn gwahanol sefyllfaoedd, a chaniataodd i mi feddwl yn greadigol."

Paula Bidder, Nyrs Gynecolleg Clinigol Arbenigol, Ysbyty Singleton

"Mae dysgu yn y gweithle yn eich caniatáu i weithio ar bwnc sy'n berthnasol i'ch gweithle. Ces i fod strwythur y cwrs yn anodd ei ddeall yn y lle cyntaf, ond unwaith i mi newid fy nghontract dysgu cyntaf gyda chymorth fy nhwitor, ces i fod dysgu o bell yn haws ei gydbwysu â bywyd cartref a gwaith nag y byddai drwy fodiwl a addysgir."
